FURY SPARKED BY NEW DELAY TO GP SURGERY

BASINGSTOKE residents have joined forces with the town's MP and council in blasting a decision by NHS chiefs to delay the building of a permanent GP surgery in Rooksdown.

By Christian Wilson

Planning permission was granted by Basingstoke and Deane Borough Council to build the doctors' surgery in Park Prewett Road three years ago, but work has not yet begun.

The plans have already been suspended four times, with the residents being forced to use a temporary surgery on the site in the meantime.

But now North Hampshire Clinical Commissioning Group (NHCCG) and NHS England has revealed the decision will be delayed until the autumn while a strategy for services across North Hampshire was drawn up.

A letter from NHCCG said: "What has been made clear at a national level is that while resources are available to improve estate and other facilities, any funding will only be given to developments which can be shown to transform patient care for the better.

"And that is a test which any new build or refurbishment (including anything proposed for Rooksdown) will have to satisfy before it goes ahead."

This further delay led to residents demonstrating outside Rooksdown Practice on Tuesday to mark three years since the application was submitted.

Ward councillor Simon Bound said: "Patients are waiting an unacceptable period of time for appointments and are openly discussing moving surgeries in the hope of finding a more responsive service provider.

"Sick people are being let down and have been for years."

Borough rejects idea of a unitary authority

BASINGSTOKE'S council has united in its opposition to plans by the county council to form a single authority for the whole of Hampshire.

The authority is proposing to do away with itself and each of the 11 district councils to instead create a unitary 'mega council'.

County council leader Roy Perry insisted that such a move would provide "the greatest level of continuity in services [and] the highest savings" as part of plans to devolve more powers and responsibilities down from Government.

But borough councillors blasted the proposal at a meeting of full council last Thursday night, as 51 out of 54 members voted to oppose the idea.

The major reorganisation could still go ahead despite the council's challenge however, after the county council put the idea out to public consultation.

Borough council leader Clive Sanders said: "It is very sad that instead of working together for the benefit of residents, we have found ourselves at loggerheads with Hampshire County Council following their decision to develop their own proposals without consulting us or any other councils.

By Christian Wilson

"We will not be told what the best outcome is for our residents or be railroaded into accepting a situation that doesn't meet their needs."

If a unitary council was formed, Hampshire's total of 478 councillors would be reduced to less than 100 to cover the county – a point criticised by the leader of Basingstoke's Liberal Democrats group.

"It's a ludicrous and idiotic idea," said Gavin James.

"Devolution is about sending powers down as close to the people as possible, but this will mean decisions are sent to Winchester, not Basingstoke."

He continued: "The county council seem to have run out of things to cut and are looking for even more power."

Some members of the borough council had hoped to progress a proposal to form a 'Heart of Hampshire' combined authority deal with five other district councils, before the idea to form a single unitary council was put forward.

Basingstoke's Labour group called for the borough to "stand on its own two feet" by forming a unitary authority for Basingstoke and Deane.

Group leader Paul Harvey said: "There's already a democratic deficit in Hampshire as it is and this would only make it worse.

"Why should we hand over our hard-earned assets to Hampshire for something that will not work?"

"Hampshire cannot want the best for Basingstoke and Deane, only Basingstoke and Deane can want that."

• The leader of Basingstoke's Liberal Democrats group, Gavin James, labelled the proposal as "ludicrous"

Duck race proves to be quacking success

• Hundreds of people attended the annual duck race in Old Basing

RESIDENTS crowded the banks of the River Loddon in their hundreds on Bank Holiday Monday for the Basingstoke Duck Race.

A record number of people turned out to enjoy an afternoon of rubber duck races at Bartons Mill in Old Basing, all in the name of charity.

The popular annual Basingstoke Loddon Rotary Club event helped raise cash for the Ark Cancer Centre Charity, which is trying to raise £5million to build a cancer treatment centre for the Basingstoke area.

The ducks for the race were sold at £1 each, with winner Eva Barnard, of Basingstoke, claiming a sightseeing flight for two along the Jurassic Coast in Dorset.

Rotary club president Bill Crosher said: "We are delighted with the success of this year's duck race event.

"There was a record show of support from the public, with hundreds of ducks sold, and everyone had a great time."

The proceeds are still being counted and will be presented to the charity at the club's annual charities night later this month.

Director of fundraising Mark Jones thanked the Rotarians for putting on "such a successful event" and everyone who supported it.

Plan adopted

BASINGSTOKE AND DEANE: The borough council voted to adopt a housing plan for Basingstoke and Deane at a meeting of full council on Thursday night.

At least 850 homes will now be built annually across the borough for the next 13 years as part of the new local plan, following years of planning.

A five-year housing land supply has been created as part of the plan to protect the borough from unwanted planning applications and free up the council's development control committee.

The council has been without a local plan since the last one finished at the start of 2011.

It will be another five weeks before the housing plan is officially confirmed however, as objections can still be made to the High Court until July 7.

Work on £6m fire base finally gets underway

By Christian Wilson

WORK has begun to build Hampshire's biggest and most modern fire station in Basingstoke.

The long-serving headquarters of the town's firefighting service in West Ham Close was finally demolished two weeks ago after about four years of planning.

Hampshire Fire and Rescue Service (HFRS) is funding a £6million project to build a state-of-the-art fire station on the site.

The new headquarters will include a training tower, a smoke training building, new living quarters and public rooms that can be used by local groups.

Following a groundbreaking ceremony held last Thursday to mark the start of the year-long revamp, HFRS's head of service, Ian Hardcastle, said: "This is a modern station for a modern era.

"The new building will provide the people of Basingstoke and Hampshire with an excellent facility and give the fire service the chance to work more closely with their partners.

"As well as attending incidents, crews at this station will play a key role in prevention, training and community engagement."

The old fire station dated back to 1967 and the site is being redeveloped by construction firm Kier.

Commercial manager Chris Lawrence said: "We carefully selected our design and engineering teams for their expertise working on Staffordshire and Weymouth fire stations.

"It will be equipped with facilities for both firefighters and the local community to become an asset in the local area and meet the demands required by a modern fire service."

HFRS have chosen to rebuild Basingstoke's fire station, as opposed to another site, due to it being "one of the most important, strategically, in the county".

"With improved facilities, this will be a key part of Hampshire Fire and Rescue Service's countywide response."

• Basingstoke and Deane's Mayor, Jane Frankum, (right) was in attendance as work officially began to build Basingstoke's brand new fire station (inset) last week

Broadband boost

HARTLEY WINTNEY: Virgin Media has confirmed Hartley Wintney will be one of 10 communities across the country to benefit from ultrafast broadband.

The village was ranked ninth in the list as part of Virgin Media's 'Supercharging Local Communities' initiative, after residents voted for their community to be chosen to benefit from the scheme.

Residents and businesses will now be connected with fibre broadband run directly to their premises.

North East Hampshire MP Ranil Jayawardena said: "The introduction of ultrafast broadband to Hartley Wintney is great news."

Family fun day

BASINGSTOKE: A free family fun day will take place at Specsavers opticians on Sunday to mark the launch of the company's Sunday Kids Clinics.

The Festival Place-based store will host the clinics each Sunday to offer parents the opportunity to book tests.

MP spells it out - 'there can be no more delays'

• From front page

Despite the planning permission, work cannot start without the consent of both the CCG and NHS England.

A petition launched by Cllr Bound has got more than 300 signatures.

Nadine Freeman said: "The service is currently appalling. The wait for appointments is painful and verging on dangerous and surely must be causing people to attend A&E as an alternative."

Lucinda Streeter said: "I need to know that a medical service is available when I need it, not in three weeks' time when they can 'fit me in'."

David Dixon said the surgery was "massively understaffed and equipped to deal with a growing population".

There are 2,100 houses in Rooksdown, with 900 more planned over the next seven years at sites in Park Prewett North and Merton Rise, among others.

After meeting with NHS Property last Friday, Basingstoke MP Maria Miller assured the public that she had made it clear to the groups that there could "be no further delays".

She added: "Rooksdown residents have endured a catalogue of delays to essential local services being established as a result of poor planning when the main estate was started more than 10 years ago.

"I have been assured that the building contractor, new plans and financing are now in place.

"The GP practice has confirmed to me that they have reached agreement on the lease for the new building."

Circus-themed dance to start town's festival

SCHOOLCHILDREN will take part in a spectacular circus-themed dance performance in the Top of Town to launch the Basingstoke Festival tomorrow.

Performers from JG Dance and Thingumajig Theatre's Sun Birds will take part in the colourful piece outside The Willis Museum from 12.30pm.

Last year's launch attracted hundreds of people as a five-metre tall, fire-breathing bird led a procession in the rain through the town centre.

Organisers will hope that the weather is brighter this time around, as the programme of events for this summer's 23-day festival is unveiled, with more than 100 exhibitions and performances planned.

The green-themed festival will run between Friday, June 17, and Sunday, July 10, with the borough council planning to throw a carnival parade led by a giant robot made from recycled materials.

Deputy leader Terri Reid said: "Everyone is invited to the launch of the festival programme at Market Place on Friday.

"It promises to be a sensational performance by local children and dancers and will set the scene for this year's wonderful festival events."

Visit basingstokefestival.co.uk for more information.

• Almost £5m worth of works have been approved to increase the number of places at Kings Furlong Infant and Junior Schools

Two schools set for a £4.8m expansion

By Christian Wilson

TWO Basingstoke schools are to be expanded as part of a £4.8million project funded by Hampshire County Council.

Work to build new teaching blocks at both Kings Furlong Infant and Junior Schools off Upper Chestnut Drive is due to take place at the end of the school year.

A total of four new classrooms and a new music drama room will be constructed at the junior school, while the capacity will switch from two forms of entry to three.

Younger pupils at the infant school are to benefit from three new classrooms as part of the project, which will see the capacity increased from 210 to 270, while the size of the adjoining nursery is also due to be increased.

In total, the move will create 162 more spaces for children aged between two and 11, with the infants school's headteacher Libby Wyatt insisting that the school could handle the expansion.

She said: "We're really pleased as we've been working with the local authority on this for quite a while.

"There's an increased pressure for school places at the moment, so we jumped at the opportunity to do this.

"It's lovely to get recognition from parents that they want to send their children here.

"From our point of view, if we can fill our nurseries with children it will help families in the area, which is great."

The works will be completed by the start of next year, and are part of an £18.4m investment approved by the county council last week to improve education facilities in north Hampshire.

A total of six schools across Basingstoke and Deane, Eastleigh, Hart and Winchester are being revamped as the local authority looks to provide more than 11,000 new primary school places by 2018.

Executive member for education, Peter Edgar, said: "Thanks to our strong track record in planning for the future, we are continuing to keep pace with providing additional school places to meet continued rising demand in Hampshire.

"I am also pleased that we are able to invest in creative and sports facilities to ensure young people have the opportunity to enjoy an all-round educational experience.

"We pride ourselves on investing in quality school buildings that are built to be sustainable and provide a good environment for learning."

Pals pile on pedal power for charity

THREE Basingstoke friends will lead a team of cyclists on Britain's toughest long-distance challenge for charity this summer.

By Christian Wilson

Craig Killick, Gary Livingstone and Rob Jones will pedal 1,000 miles from John O'Groats to Land's End (JOGLE) over 10 days in a bid to raise £20,000.

Like any fundraising idea, the epic challenge started as nothing more than something on the trio's bucket lists.

But the three local businessmen will actually put that plan into action when they take to the road on Saturday, July 2, in a bid to raise money for Basingstoke's Ark Cancer Centre Charity.

Rob's brother Bernie, from Chester, will join the friends on the trip, along with Basingstoke financial advisor Graeme Bone, who ran for the charity at last year's Basingstoke Half Marathon.

Kempshott resident Craig, 45, said: "We soon decided that if we were going to be crazy enough to ride the length of the country, we may as well also do it for a good cause – so we will be raising money towards the funding of a unique local cancer treatment centre.

"Cancer touches so many families, and all of us taking part in JOGLE16 want to do something to help make this much-needed centre a reality."

Ark Cancer Centre Charity is looking to raise £5million to build the Basingstoke area's first dedicated treatment centre for cancer sufferers in North Waltham.

Director of fundraising Mark Jones, who will be driving a support vehicle throughout the challenge, was quick to praise the riders for turning their idea into reality.

He said: "The JOGLE16 riders are putting in an awesome amount of time, money and hard work in preparing for, and taking part in, this marathon challenge.

• Craig Killick (right) and Ark Cancer Centre Charity's Mark Jones (left) along with the team of riders

"Ark Cancer Centre Charity is grateful to these fabulous fundraisers, as well as the companies and people who are sponsoring them and supporting this important event."

The five riders will be joined by Mark Dolby, Andy Coles, Claire Killick, Barry Fuller, Anna O'Shea Collier, Laura Griffin and Ian Fuller for the final three-day leg of the journey from Basingstoke to Land's End from Sunday, July 10.

And after seeing the challenge receive donations from all over Basingstoke, Craig admitted that he was "overwhelmed" by the support the group had received so far.

He added: "We still have a long way to go to achieve our fundraising target, but we are sure that more support will come in as the start date draws near."

To donate to the team's charity challenge, visit the website: arkcancercharity.org.uk.

Birds killed by thugs at village pond

Two newborn geese were among several wild birds shot dead during a "disgusting" incident at a pond in Hartley Wintney.

The shootings are believed to have taken place between 7pm last Monday and 1pm last Tuesday at the duck pond near the junction of Fleet Road and High Street.

An unknown number of people are believed to have used an air rifle during this time period to shoot and kill the majority of the birds that were living at the pond. As well as the two geese, the shooters also killed two wild ducks, a female Muscovy duck and one Moorhen.

Another duck was also shot in the head, but was recovered by a member of the public and taken to the local vets, where it is being treated and is expected to make a full recovery.

PC Geoff Hill, of Farnborough police station, said: "It is an offence under the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 to kill, injure or take any wild bird."

He added: "The duck pond is at the heart of the village and has provided amusement for generations of families.

"It is disgusting that someone should curtail this by killing innocent and defenceless wildlife."

Anyone with information should contact PC Hill on 101, quoting reference number 44160194045, or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

£440,000 funding set to boost green travel

By Christian Wilson

HAMPSHIRE County Council has won £440,000 in Government funding to promote green forms of transport in rural parts of the county.

The funds will go towards connecting different ways of making journeys in a bid to encourage more people to use a bicycle instead of a car.

Hampshire has been selected for its overall size and the denseness of its countryside, with the Government hoping that the extra cash will help find ways to lower the reliance on cars and high costs as a result.

The council's executive member for transport, Rob Humby, said: "This funding will help us build on the successful partnerships we've established, improvements we've made, and campaigns we've run over the past few years to encourage people in Hampshire to try journeys without their car.

"In a large, rural county such as Hampshire, it would be unrealistic to expect anything other than car travel to be the most popular way for people to get around.

"However, if people consider changing the way they travel for some or part of their journeys, this could have a significant impact on congestion levels, journey time reliability, and – if they are cycling or walking – their health, wellbeing and budget."

The council is one of 23 authorities from across the country to receive funding from the Government's £20.6million green travel scheme.

A total of £300m has been committed over the next four years to support cycling and walking nationally.

Transport Minister Robert Goodwill said: "Green transport cuts congestion and improves air quality. It also offers the cheapest and healthiest way for people to access jobs and education.

"Hampshire's green travel scheme will make a real difference for residents and help provide better air quality for everyone."

Cllr Humby added: "Enabling further transport options in rural areas will help improve the economic vitality of these areas and help more people living in rural Hampshire to access employment opportunities more easily."

Flying Scotsman steams through Basingstoke

• The Flying Scotsman (picture by Roy Venkatesh)

Trainspotters were able to enjoy the iconic locomotive in all its glory for about 20 minutes as it stopped at the station before heading towards London Paddington.

The Flying Scotsman set two world records by becoming the first steam locomotive to reach 100mph and for the longest non-stop run.

It retired from service in 1963 and returned to the tracks earlier this year for the first time in 10 years after £4.2million worth of works.

Chief backs ban over 'legal highs'

HAMPSHIRE'S new police and crime commissioner (PCC) has given his full support to a new law aimed at banning New Psychoactive Substances (NPS).

By Christian Wilson

The legislation came into effect on Thursday and has made it illegal to produce, supply or import the so-called "legal highs" if they are likely to be used for their psychoactive effects.

A total of 114 people from across the UK died after taking the substances last year, with Hampshire Constabulary recording 403 different incidents relating to the drugs over that period.

The figure represented a rise of 340 in three years in Hampshire, with former PCC Simon Hayes responding to the issue by launching a 'Lethal Highs' drive to stop young people from taking the substances.

Mr Hayes previously told the Observer that he was "cautious" of the new law, although his replacement Michael Lane was adamant that the legislation should come into effect.

The PCC said: "When I took this job I made it clear that my first concern was keeping everybody safe.

"I'm entirely supportive that there needs to be a change in the public perception of these dangerous and personality-changing and health-changing substances.

"I'm therefore very glad about the legislation and very keen that people understand the risks involved."

Psychoactive substances have similar effects to illegal drugs like cocaine, ecstasy or cannabis, and are capable of affecting a person's mental functioning or emotional state.

Possession of NPS will not be an offence under the Psychoactive Substances Act, although suppliers could face up to seven years in prison.

Mr Lane was adamant that changing the law would now remove the perception that the drugs were safe due to their legal status.

He added: "These substances affect your behaviour, health, and are potentially lethal; they should be known as lethal highs because they can and do kill people. For me, lethal highs are unacceptable.

"Everybody and their families are in my mind when we are considering removing from use lethal highs."

Council praised for its work on youth offending

A NATIONAL independent regulator has praised a service run by Hampshire County Council aimed at stopping youth crime.

The authority's Youth Offending Team (YOT) has been recognised by HM Inspectorate of Probation (HMIP) for its engagement with young people and their families.

A report from HMIP found that Hampshire YOT was performing well in almost all areas of practice, in particular assessments.

The reoffending rate for young offenders in Hampshire is 37.7 per cent, just below the national average of 38 per cent, with the council pointing to restorative justice techniques in the county for the results.

Executive lead member for children's services, Keith Mans, said: "We believe that all children and young people have the capacity to change, and should be given every opportunity to do so."

The report found that case managers were using creative interventions to help children and young people and their parents or carers.

It read: "We saw several examples of complex cases, involving a number of agencies, where the information sharing and the co-ordination carried out was excellent."

Hospice visit

BASINGSTOKE: Town MP Maria Miller visited St Michael's Hospice in Onslow Close last week.

She met staff, volunteers and patients, as well as seeing new facilities at the hospice for day patients during Monday's visit.

Mrs Miller heard about St Michael's Care, a new domiciliary care agency the hospice has set up to provide high-quality support at home.

She said of the hospice: "It is a fantastic local facility, which many families from Basingstoke and further afield rely on at their most difficult times."

Campaign to highlight child sex abuse signs

HAMPSHIRE'S police force has launched a campaign to help parents and teachers spot signs of child sexual exploitation (CSE).

By Christian Wilson

The number of child sex abuse offences reported across the county has risen by 68 per cent over the last year, with officers dealing with 1,734 offences during that period.

In total, police have dealt with 701 more cases compared to the 12 months before, with 496 of the offences being committed on children aged 10 and under.

Hampshire Constabulary stepped up its efforts to protect youngsters from abuse last week by starting the hard-hitting campaign 'Alice's Diary', which centres on a blog written by a fictional 15-year-old girl about her experiences.

The diary goes into detail about how CSE happens and how it can be identified, with police hoping the innovative idea will lead to those close to sufferers spotting the signs.

Assistant Chief Constable Sara Glen said: "Protecting vulnerable people is our priority.

"Our new campaign aims to speak to people who have regular contact with victims of CSE to encourage them to identify the signs.

"In most cases, these people are the key to getting help for victims, as those wrapped up in the world of CSE are often unable or refuse to admit there is an issue."

Unlike previous campaigns, the scheme attempts to be more emotive to grab the attention of residents by using striking artwork and also including "diary entries" from parents and friends of sufferers.

The latest statistics showed that of all the child sex abuse offences in Hampshire, 1,400 victims were female and 315 male.

Hampshire and Isle of Wight Safeguarding Children Board said that anyone could become a victim of abuse.

Chairman Maggie Blyth said: "In particular, it is important that messages go out to all children and young people, as anyone can be vulnerable to sexual exploitation.

"It is so essential any campaign gets the attention of young people to make them aware of the potential dangers, enabling them to make the right choices and keep themselves safe."

Hampshire County Council's cabinet member for children's social care, Keith Mans, added: "Anything that helps young people recognise that all may not be what it seems and to be vigilant has to be a positive move.

"Hampshire Constabulary is taking a novel approach to raising awareness of the dangers of Child Sexual Exploitation and I fully support what they are aiming to do."

Ellie's work features in show

AN ASHMANSWORTH artist's idea has been brought to life as part of a public art project.

A herd of colourful zebra sculptures, including one by Ellie Fane, will fill Southampton city centre next month to raise money for charity.

Ellie has beat hundreds of other applicants to have her work included in the Marwell's Zany Zebras showpiece after organisers chose her coastal 'Southern Gold' design.

• Ellie Fane and (inset) the zebra sculpture

She said: "The zebra sculpture has already raised many a smile in the village. It was initially collected from the zoo back in February and transported back to Ashmansworth in a van belonging to Keith Chegwin, who offered his help on the day.

"Many kind neighbours have come round to help."

Ellie has used 22 carat gold to oil gild the mane, tail and hooves, with her sculpture due to be on show for 10 weeks from July 16 in a bid to raise funds to save the endangered Grevy's zebra.

She added: "I miss having the zebra in my studio at home but I'm proud that it will be part of a dazzle of 150 zany zebras, ready to be discovered around Southampton this summer."

Sam strikes out at Forge

THE last eight years have been incredible for Sam Carter.

After releasing his debut album 'Keepsakes' in 2009, the musician went on to win 'Best Newcomer' at the 2010 BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards.

After two follow-up albums, including his latest release 'How The City Sings', along with gigs all over the world, Basingstoke can finally see what all the fuss is about when Sam arrives at The Forge on Saturday, June 18.

"I played there on my Keepsakes album launch tour in 2009 and in the main venue with a Sandy Denny tribute concert in 2012," Sam told the Observer.

"It really is a lovely venue and I'm very glad to be back."

"And I hope the stories resonate with them and the music moves them, that's as much as you can hope for."

By James Richings

Over the last few years, Sam has seen his fair share of the UK.

Known for gigging at festivals, he has performed at a number of different music events, including appearances at the Shrewsbury and Cambridge Folk Festival, while touring all over the country.

And as well as performing to thousands of people, Sam has also made a number of television appearances.

Performances with many different artists such as Lucky Moyo, Jim Moray, Matt Ridley and Karl Penny has seen the folk singer-songwriter perform on shows such as 'The Andrew Marr Show' and 'Later... with Jools Holland'.

But it's on the stage where Sam feels most at home, and he hopes his gig in Basingstoke can inspire a new batch of musicians.

"It's so easy to fall back into watching music shows all online these days whatever age you are, but it just doesn't come close to the experience of hearing it live," Sam said.

"And when I first started performing, I was told to 'learn to talk to the audience'.

"I really took that to heart, and the stories I tell about my songs have become almost as much a part of the shows as the songs themselves."

He added: "I toured with Bellowhead back in 2008 and we've been friends ever since.

"It's really sad to see them go, but they're all involved in a bewildering array of fantastic projects outside of Bellowhead I'm excited to see what they get up to next."

Tickets cost £16, or £14 for under 16s, over-65s and students.

Classic horror tale retold

THE classic story of Jekyll and Hyde will be told at The Haymarket from Friday, June 8, to Saturday, June 11.

The play 'Jekyll and Hyde: Everyone Has a Monster Within' stars three former TV soap actors and actresses in Neil Roberts (Emmerdale), Gary Turner (Emmerdale) and Kim Taylfoth (Bad Girls), and is currently on its first UK tour.

By James Richings

Based on Scottish novelist Robert Louis Stevenson's original tale and penned by writer Nicholas Briggs, the 54-year-old strongly believes his adaptation will prove a big hit in Basingstoke.

He said: "I was determined that my version should be about the all-consuming evil of Hyde, how there's this uncanny, all-pervading 'wrongness' about him that people immediately sense.

• Nicholas Briggs

"He's not even necessarily ugly or monstrous-looking, but audiences will get this overwhelming feeling of something evil not just when they see or meet him, but even when they think about him."

Originally known as the 'Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde', the book was first published in 1886 by Stevenson, whose story tells how Dr Henry Jekyll had an evil alter ego called Edward Hyde.

The book was a big hit in the 1800s with its popularity continuing over the next 130 years. There have been many different stage productions and film adaptations of the story.

Amazingly, it was to be just by chance that Nicholas would have the opportunity to be able to write his version of the tale.

"In 2014, the people who run the annual thriller season at the Theatre Royal Nottingham said they wanted a gothic thriller for summer 2015," he said.

"They were keen on doing 'Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde', but they hadn't liked any of the adaptations they had looked at.

• The cast, made up of (from left) Neil Roberts, Kim Taylfoth and Gary Turner

"So they asked me if I'd like to look into adapting it for the stage.

"So I immediately read it — I confess I'd never read it before — loved it and said 'Yes' and what immediately inspired me was that it isn't the story we think we all know.

"What the bulk of the novella's plot is really about is a lawyer called Gabriel Utterson trying to work out what the hell is going on with his old friend Henry Jekyll.

"To me, he's the key to the story, because it's Gabriel's struggle to understand and piece together the appalling, inconceivable evidence of what Jekyll has done that gives the story an emotional centre."

The Haymarket will play host to six performances of the play over its four-day run.

Tickets cost from £12 to £23.

New MG3 model proves fun ride

By Anthony Yates

MG has a long history when it comes to making motor cars and I can recall many models that made MG as a brand stand out above all others – for instance, the MG Midget, the MGA and the MGB GT V8 are just a few of the iconic models that I can remember from my youth.

When this much-loved brand was re-launched back in 2011, the response was positive and, for me, this was great news because I was happy that once again I would start seeing a new generation of MG motor cars hit our streets.

The brand is now growing again and the introduction of the facelifted MG6 in 2015 made it even stronger.

So in light of this, I thought it was about time that I gave the MG3 super-mini, which was introduced in 2013, a full workout.

Power and Efficiency:

The MG3 is powered by a 1.5 DOHC VTi-TECH engine that produces 106PS @6000rpm and has a top speed of 108mph.

Fuel consumption is about 51mpg, and a 0-60 time of about 10 seconds.

The engine feels very willing – and for an engine that is normally aspirated I think it does that rather well.

OK, it's never going to set any records, but why should it – the MG3 was built to meet a need for a car that was not only well equipped, but also priced without breaking the bank or jacking up insurance premiums.

On the road:

The MG3 feels fine – nothing to complain about really.

It's fun to drive and the chassis is doing a great job of keeping you pressed into the tarmac.

The steering is also well weighted, but I found that road noise can be high on some surfaces and I think a little extra soundproofing here and there would have been welcome.

Design and Interior:

The interior is not as good as some, but for a budget motor I can forgive it for its basic approach, although the seating was comfortable and the space inside is more than adequate.

The dials and switches are also set out well and the interior stands out better than some of its budget rivals such as the Dacia Sandero.

Also, let's not forget about the wide range of personalisation options you can choose from.

Technology:

The MG 3FORM Sport model is fitted with a CD player with six speakers and USB input along with a host of extras including LED daytime running lights, DAB radio, multi-function trip computer, atability control system (SCS) including ABS, EBD, EBA, CBC and engine stop-start function.

Base price (from) £9,899 as tested).

Dragons boss unveils his first new signings

TERRY Brown has made his first signings as Basingstoke Town manager as he looks to mount a promotion push next season.

Academy products George Hallahan, Aaron Jarvis and George Bennett have each signed contracts to remain at the Ark Cancer Charity Stadium.

All three youngsters impressed after being given a chance by the Dragons boss in the final weeks of the season following the club's relegation to the Southern League Premier Division.

The signings follow the decision to go full time and focus on building a team around young players as Basingstoke look to bounce straight back up to the National League South at the first attempt.

Town boss Brown was quick to congratulate academy manager Jason Bristow for his role in uncovering the trio and making them ready for first-team football.

Brown said: "I was amazed with the quality of the boys at the academy because the vast majority of non-league academies work on a numbers basis, rather than quality over quantity.

"To get three to go straight into the first team in one year is really phenomenal, which is testimony to Jason.

"They literally came in at the end of the season and made us a better team and looked more than comfortable."

Midfielder George Bennett grabbed his first goal for the club in the final day win at Chelmsford City, while teenage striker Aaron Jarvis also caught the eye on his debut in the 2-0 win over Truro City.

And Brown predicted bright futures for both of the youngsters, while confirming that both would play leading roles next season.

He said: "People told me that George was a holding midfielder when I arrived at the club.

"But as he showed last season, he can be any type of midfielder he wants to be.

"Nothing seemed to faze him and he always seemed to have time on the ball, which is a sign of a good player.

"Aaron was a bit of a bonus for me.

"He has a little bit of devil in him in that he won't get pushed off the ball and adds a bit of legs and energy up front."

Hallahan will be a bit more well known to Dragons fans after impressing following former manager Bristow's decision to give him a run in the side last pre-season.

Following the news, the forward posted on Twitter: "Happy to have signed. Looking forward to the times ahead."

Brown added: "George is a little bit ahead of the others, but needs to be playing regularly.

"He has that versatility to play in a number of positions, which I want my players to be able to do.

"He's got a good future ahead of him, for sure."

Bountymen on form to blow away Totton

BASINGSTOKE and North Hants put in their best performance of the season so far to clinch victory on Saturday.

The Bountymen were left frustrated seven days earlier after rain saw their Southern Premier League Division 1 match with Andover called off after only 28 overs.

And they looked fresh after their week off as they blew Totton and Eling away on the road to win by 114 runs after losing the toss and being put into bat first.

That appeared to be a wise decision early on as openers Chris Froud and Mitch Stokes were quickly removed for nine and 25 runs respectively to leave Basingstoke on 39-2.

The next wicket would prove to be very costly for Totton however, as Max Harsham (52) and Daniel Belcher (51) both claimed half centuries.

Ethan Taylor (2-78) eventually removed Harsham to leave the visitors on 129-3, but his replacement Ben Julin then also got in on the act to reach 50, after hitting four fours and four sixes.

Knocks of 21 from both Chris Jolley and Mathew Thankachan then helped Basingstoke close out their innings on 269 all out.

Totton never came close to troubling that target as Graham Porter (2-26) and Stokes (2-20) tore through the top order to leave the hosts on 83-7.

And any faint hope of a comeback was completely extinguished when Tom Rouse (40) was removed by Julin to leave Totton all out for just 155.

Collard jumps for joy after double win

RICKY Collard's dreams of claiming a first BRDC British Formula 3 title have been handed a massive boost.

The 19-year-old Hook racer had a round to remember at Oulton Park as he claimed two race wins to move 37 points clear of Douglas Motorsport's Thomas Randle.

Collard went into the weekend on the back of his first ever F3 win at Rockingham four weeks earlier and carried on that momentum to the Cheshire track to claim pole position in qualifying.

A second win duly followed in race one on Sunday, although not as the teenager would have imagined, as a huge crash for Carlin teammate Ameya Vaidyanathan brought racing to a close after six laps with Collard leading proceedings.

The crash resulted in the second race being rolled over to Bank Holiday Monday, with Collard putting in a fastest lap on his way to finishing eighth to claim pole for race three.

In truth, Collard never really looked like surrendering maximum points after that as he put in a virtuoso performance to lead from lights to flag to beat Randle by 1.854 seconds.

He said: "I don't know what is going on at the moment but it is just clicking.

"I am very grateful for the opportunity to be here and I want to thank everyone involved including my sponsors.

"The team has been doing a fantastic job.

"Everything is just falling into place at the moment and I hope it can continue towards the end of the season."

Sport Bites

Watt departs

ICE HOCKEY: Ryan Watt will not suit up for Basingstoke Bison next season, the club confirmed this week.

The Scottish forward joined the Herd midway through the 2014/15 season, and registered 38 points from his 69 games in the EPL.

Injury blow

GOLF: Justin Rose has pulled out of his second tournament in a week because of injury.

The North Hampshire golfer confirmed this week that he wouldn't be taking part in today's Memorial tournament in Dublin, Ohio.

Rose missed his home tournament at the BMW PGA Championship in Wentworth last week after picking up a back injury at the Wells Fargo Championship at the start of last month.

The former Robert May's School pupil's final chance to practice before the US Open on June 16 will now take place at the FedEx St Jude Classic next Thursday.

Guernsey trip

FOOTBALL: Basingstoke Town's first pre-season fixture has been announced for this summer as they prepare to try and gain promotion out of the Southern League Premier.

The Dragons will travel to face Guernsey on July 30, a team that sits in the division below them in the Ryman League Division One.

First win for Hook

CRICKET: Hook and Newnham Basics claimed their first win of the Southern League Division One season on Saturday.

A knock of 65 runs from Jordan Hobday helped Hook to a 132 run win at Old Tauntonians and Romsey as they finished their innings on 225, before then removing the hosts for just 93.

Hartley Wintney's miserable start to the campaign continued however, as they were hammered by 150 runs to Trojans in Southern League Division Two.

NEW FACE IN AT BISON AS POLODNA JOINS HERD

BASINGSTOKE Bison have added a new face to their roster as they look to strengthen for next season's English Premier League (EPL) defence.

By Christian Wilson

Import centreman Petr Polodna will suit up for the Herd from September in head coach Doug Sheppard's first new shake-up of the post-season.

The Czech is the Bison's third import confirmed this summer, following the re-signings of star forwards Tomas Karpov and Rene Jarolin.

Polodna's move will represent his first into British ice hockey, having previously played for KLH Chomutov and HC Havlickuv Brod in the Czech Republic and Polish side JKH GKS Jastrzebie.

And after collecting 23 points in his homeland for SK Horacka Slavia Trebic last season, Sheppard was hopeful that the 34-year-old would help fill some of the void left by the outgoing Joe Greener.

He said: "I was very impressed with the numbers he has put up every season and he is exactly what we are looking for, bringing more depth going down the middle.

"We needed to find a replacement for Joe Greener and I think Petr will do this.

"He is not the same player, but last season we changed the look of our line-up when Rene Jarolin replaced Joe Rand and that did not harm us."

Stampede supporters have also been given a second massive boost after Bracknell-born forward Alan Lack also signed on for another year at the Basingstoke Arena.

The 23-year-old had a superb first season for the club, finishing with 32 points and scoring 15 times, after slotting in well alongside Karpov and Ciaran Long in the forward line.

And Lack admitted that his relationship with his fellow forwards played a big role in his decision to sign.

He said: "It was an easy decision to return and I am looking to get even more fitter for this campaign.

"I had a great time playing on a line with Tomas and Ciaran and I have set myself a target to get even more points this year."

Sheppard added: "I spent all of last summer trying to sign him.

"He created space for them and also more turn overs for this team than any other player."
